

Indiana Health Care Education Profession Booklet (Including Louisville, KY & Cincinnati, OH)

Are you interested in a health care profession? There are over 250 healthcare professions. They require a variety of training from a quickly earned certificate to graduate school training. Some professions also require continuing education credits.

This booklet contains contact information for Indiana colleges and universities with nursing schools and/or allied health departments; it also contains college and university listings for the Louisville and Cincinnati areas. These education institutions provide a variety of degrees, accelerated nursing programs, and courses offered through distance education.

This booklet also provides information about universities that offer health certificates or degrees completely through distance education.

Many universities either offer scholarships or provide resources about financial aid, so check these schools' web pages or make contact with the schools' nursing and health representatives.

This booklet is provided by the Southeast/South Central Indiana Area Health Center and Hoosier Uplands - <http://www.hoosieruplands.org/AHEC>

Indiana Dentistry Programs

Types of Health Care Professions in Dentistry:

- Dentist - Dentists diagnose, prevent and treat problems of the teeth and tissues of the mouth. Dentists use a variety of equipment, including x-ray machines, drills and instruments. Dentists extract teeth and make molds and measurements for dentures to replace missing teeth. They also provide instruction in diet, brushing, flossing and other aspects of dental care. (Bowling Green, KY AHEC)
- Dental Assistant - Dental assistants perform a variety of patient care, office and laboratory duties. Dental assistants prepare patients for examinations performed by a dentist by making them comfortable in the dentist's chair, obtaining their dental records and recording medical or dental histories. They prepare instrument trays and hand the dentist materials and instruments requested. Dental assistants prepare materials for making impressions and restorations, process x-ray films and radiographs and keep the patient's mouth clear by using suction and other devices. They also prepare instruments for sterilization, handle routine records and appointments and may provide patients with oral health instruction. (Bowling Green, KY AHEC)
- Dental Hygienist - Dental hygienists clean teeth and provide other preventive dental care, as well as teach patients how to practice good oral hygiene. Hygienists examine patients' teeth and gums, recording the presence of diseases or abnormalities. Dental hygienists use hand and rotary instruments to clean teeth, x-ray machines to take dental pictures and syringes with needles to administer local anesthetics. (Bowling Green, KY AHEC)

Indiana Pharmacy Programs

What does a pharmacist do?

Pharmacists (RPh) dispense medications prescribed by physicians, dentists and other authorized medical practitioners. Pharmacists must understand the purpose, chemical make-up and effects of drugs, so they can prevent harmful interactions between the drugs their clients are taking. They counsel patients about using prescription and over-the-counter medications. Pharmacists verify the validity of prescriptions; weigh, measure and mix drugs and other medicinal compounds; keep comprehensive records of all medications dispensed according to law; properly store medications; and order and maintain a supply of drugs. Pharmaceutical care increasingly involves disease management. Pharmacists may supervise pharmacy assistants, pharmacy technicians and other employees. (Bowling Green, KY AHEC)

What does a pharmacist technician do?

Pharmacy technicians assist pharmacists with technical tasks, such as filling prescriptions and other dispensing duties, which allows pharmacists to spend more time counseling and educating patients. They work under the supervision of pharmacists. Pharmacy technicians play an integral role in assuring that prescriptions are dispensed safely. They do clerical work such as entering prescriptions into a computer and maintain records and inventories of drugs and supplies. Pharmacy technicians stock, package and price medications, and aid in third party insurance data entry, corrections and fee collection. Some technicians pick up and deliver orders. Indiana Health Information Technology/Management

What is a medical records technician?

A career as a medical records technician offers unique opportunities to combine an interest in medicine with activities in health care information processing. The health information technician possesses the technical knowledge and skills necessary to organize, analyze and technically evaluate medical records. They also compile administrative and health statistics, report health data for reimbursement and code symptoms and disease operations according to classification systems. Technicians maintain and use health record indexes and registries, transcribe medical reports and control release of health information. (Bowling Green, KY AHEC)

Master of Science in Physician Assistant Studies

The PA Program is an intense, full-time, 27-month curriculum with a total of 98 credit hours. Students will spend the first 15 months primarily in the classroom obtaining a foundation of medical knowledge, in the areas of basic biomedical science and clinical skills. During the last 12 months of the program, students will be assigned to clinical rotations spending a minimum of 40 hours per week working with a physician preceptor in settings such as physician offices, clinics, extended care facilities and hospitals.

All students will complete a core of rotations in areas of family medicine, emergency medicine, internal medicine, general surgery, and an elective. Then, students may choose from a series of rotations in the areas of trauma, hospital-based care, family practice or internal medicine.

A Few Career Possibilities for Social Workers

- Mental health
- Child Welfare
- Developmental disabilities
- Children and youth
- Health
- Political Advocacy

Social Workers must have a complete knowledge of community resources. They interview clients, assess their situations and problems and determine the types of services they require. They counsel and assist clients in developing skills to deal with and resolve their social problems. They investigate cases of child abuse and neglect. ...Medical Social Workers have been the cause of many patients being discharged from hospitals and returning to familiar surroundings to complete their recovery and lead normal lives. They assist physicians and other health care professionals in understanding the emotional factors related to a patient's illness. ..(Bloomington Hospital & Healthcare System Health Career Guidebook 2000-2001 ed.)
